

2015 Symposium Winners

From left to right: Bian Wu, Carlie Thompson, Peter Stock, Gavitt Woodard, Jennifer Grandis, Nancy Ascher, Jessica Cohan, Lily Cheng and Benjamin Howard

- BEST BASIC SCIENCE PRESENTATION: *Development of a Novel Gli Inhibitor and its Combined Effect With Erlotinib for Treatment of Non-small Cell Lung Cancer and Pancreatic Ductal Adenocarcinoma, Gavitt Woodard, MD
- BEST CLINICAL SCIENCE PRESENTATION: *A Surgical Decision Aid for Patients With Ulcerative Colitis: A Pilot Study, Jessica Cohan, MD
- OUTSTANDING BASIC SCIENCE PRESENTATION: *The Tissue Factor Pathway Mediates Both Activation of Coagulation and Coagulopathy After Injury, Benjamin Howard, MD, MPH
- OUTSTANDING CLINICAL SCIENCE PRESENTATION: *MammaPrint Accurately Predicts Long-term Survival and Endocrine Therapy Benefit in Lymph Node Negative Breast Cancer Patients, Carlie Thompson, MD
- BEST “QUICK-SHOT” PRESENTATIONS (tied): *Serotonin Signaling Promotes Growth of Postnatal-derived Enteric Neuronal Stem Cells, Lily Cheng, MD; A Biodegradable Device for Perivascular Delivery of Pro-resolving Lipid Mediators, Bian Wu, MD