

The Division of Transplant Surgery at UCSF and the Rishwain Family cordially invite you to the inaugural

Anthony B. Rishwain, MD Lecture in Transplantation Medicine

featuring

Dr. Jennifer A. Doudna

UC Berkeley Professor and Principal Investigator at the Howard Hughes Medical Institute

CRISPR Biology and Technology: The Frontier of the Genome Engineering Revolution

Wednesday, September 23, 2015 7:00 a.m. – 8:00 a.m.

UCSF Parnassus Campus Health Sciences West Building, Room 302 513 Parnassus Avenue San Francisco

Breakfast to follow

Please RSVP by September 9th to Sarah Krumholz at 415-502-1899 or sarah.krumholz@ucsf.edu

Directions

UCSF Parnassus Campus Health Sciences West Building, Room 302 513 Parnassus Avenue San Francisco

Enter the building through the main lobby. Take the elevators on your left and proceed to the third floor. Exit the elevators to your left, go through the double doors, and then take a right into the Health Sciences West Building.

Parking

Parking is available at the Millberry Union Garage located at 500 Parnassus Avenue for $3.75 per hour.

More information, please visit: http://www.ucsfhealth.org/adult/patient_guide/parking/index.html